

2023 JCNA Liaison Report for year 2022

Looks like 2022 has come and gone in a flash. JCNA and JLR are still in good communication with each other even though there isn't much to report.

There were a couple of requests from JLR for club vehicles one on April 22 for a classic Jaguar for a few scenes in the redo of White Men Can't Jump and on June 1 a request was made for a car to be used in an ad JLR was filming at a dealership in the Alexandria area. I made suggestions for both requests.

On 7-11 a request was made from a club member for possible tickets to the Formula E VIP party on July 15th. When the request was made, I was told it was unfortunate but there were no tickets available.

I questioned JLR about the previously private offer programs JCNA members had received in past years but was told "There are no special offers on the vehicles due to supply constraints / limited inventory".

I just asked JLR if they had any info to share on the E vehicles and was told "funny you ask as we in the US market has not seen photos / info regarding those yet." So unfortunately, he had no information to share at this time.
