Begin running articles in the Jaguar Journal July-August issue and those following telling everyone:

- When the competition season ends
- How to check their scores
- When the deadline for submitting their request is
- And when no further requests will be accepted.

The JCNA competition season is officially over and all Concours reports must be completed and approved by November 30th of each year. The only score or standings changes allowed after December 1st are those resulting from the official JCNA protest process.

Because people move and information changes, it is the Entrant's responsibility to go to the JCNA web site and confirm their award info and submit the request for the trophy.

Award verification must be submitted on the JCNA site by January 30th. Awards will be shipped February 28th. Submissions received after February 28th will be processed at the end of each month and shipped 3 weeks later.

After December 31st, to see your standings, go to jcna.com.

- Click on Standings.
- Click on 2013 Results and Provisional Standings.
- Below 2013 Final Standings / Competition Awards, click on Concours (North American).
- Scroll down to your class number. Locate your name and click on your score
- Scroll up just a bit because it always puts you info at the very top of the page.
- Click on "click here to confirm data for your award order"

Then it brings up the form for you to fill in. Note, it does NOT automatically include your email address so please fill it in.

There is no automated response, so please be patient. You will receive an email you with a final confirmation information to make sure everything is correct.

NOTE: You must submit your confirmation email by January 30th to receive your trophy.

Confirmation emails received after that time will be processed at the end of each month and shipped 3 weeks later. With over 200 trophies to be sent out, confirmations cannot be processed throughout the year.
