1931 - 'WAIT! THE "SS" IS COMING'

1931 Autocar Advert, 'Wait! The SS is coming'

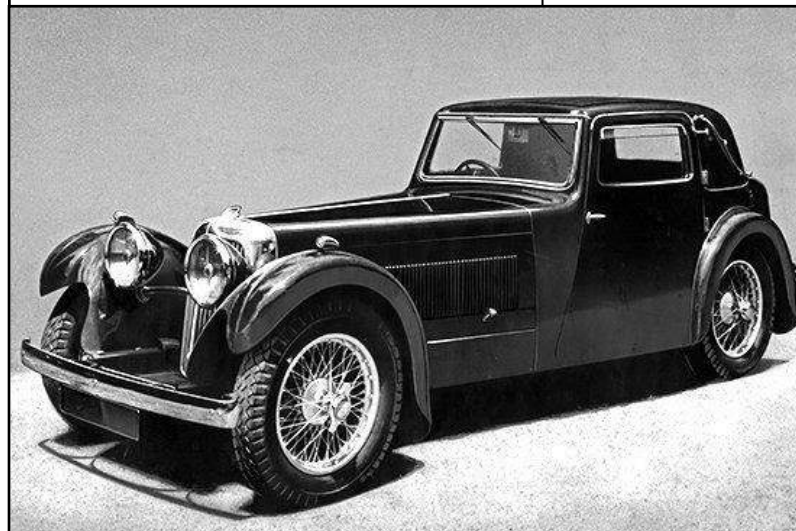

Originally posted on at www.jaguarheritage.com

In July 1933 the SS I Tourer joined the Coupe, and apart from being the first open SS model, the significance of the Tourers was that they were the first to be entered in a serious competitive event. A team of three Tourers was entered in the 1933 Alpine Trial in mainland Europe and the following year they enhanced the SS name very considerably, taking the team prize on this particularly tough event.

William Walmsley, who did not share his partner's driving ambition and was losing interest in the venture, severed his connections in late 1934. Lyons now turned his attention to improving the mechanical integrity of the cars. First he turned to Harry Weslake, a distinguished engineering consultant specialising in cylinder head design. Then he formed an Engineering Department and appointed a young William Heynes to be his Chief Engineer. Heynes was to play a major role with the company for the next 35 years. The range was supplemented in 1935 with the addition of the fashionable SS I Airline Saloon.

1932 SS I Coupe

The fruits of Weslake and Heynes' work were shortly to be seen but, meanwhile, a very stylish sports car was introduced. Known as the SS 90 and powered by the 2.7 litre side-valve engine, the performance once again did not quite live up to the car's dramatic appearance.

In 1935 the 'Jaguar' name sprang upon the 1934 First Delivery of SS Cars to USA; SSI Airline Saloon in foreground.

1933 Alpine Trial SSI Koch & Orssich

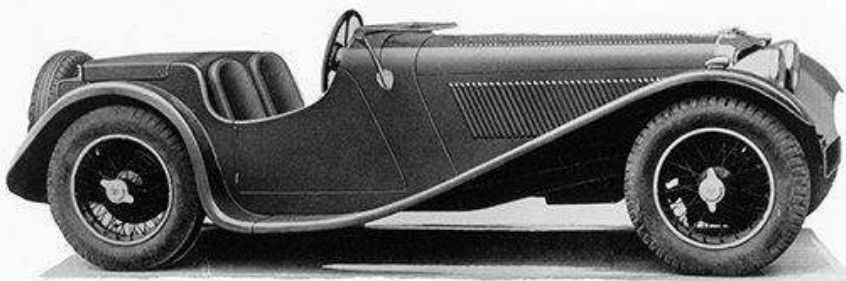

scene for the first time with a completely new saloon and sports car range. Weslake had been turning his talents to the Standard engine and by adopting overhead valves he succeeded in increasing output from 75 hp of the previous 2½ litre side valve engine to no less than 105 hp. For the new chassis and engine unit, Lyons designed a fresh body style, less flamboyant than previous models, yet still stylish.

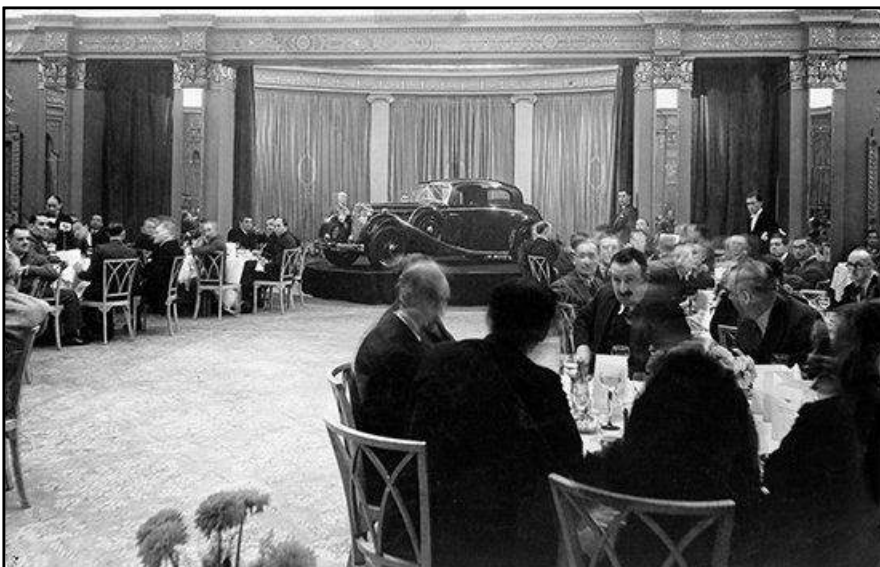

Sophistication was increasing, and now customers were offered four doors for the first time on an SS. Indeed so different were the new models that it was felt that a new model name was needed. The Company's advertising agency suggested 'Jaguar' and though Lyons took some persuading, it was finally adopted. Thus the new cars would be known as SS Jaguars. With typical showmanship, Lyons had arranged a lunch at the Mayfair Hotel in London to launch the new model to the press a few days before the 1935 Motor Show. The SS Jaguar 2½ litre saloon was unveiled to much favourable comment and the assembled company were asked to guess the price. The average guess was £632. The actual price... just £395.

The superb new sports car design, which had been glimpsed just briefly as the SS 90, reappeared in similar form as the SS Jaguar 100. With a revised treatment around the fuel tank area at the rear, and more importantly, the adoption of the new chassis and engine, the company now produced a sports car to be proud of. For many, the SS 100 is a pre-war classic amongst sports cars. The price, incidentally, was just £395. This new model was to be used to considerable effect in competitions, both national and international.

In 1936 the motoring journalist Tom Wisdom, driving with his wife Elsie, won the International Alpine Trials in an SS 100. A year later a team of three cars was entered by the factory in the RAC Rally, the premier rally event in Britain. The team took the Manufacturer's Team Prize but outright success eluded them. Instead the event was won by a privately entered SS 100! A new, enlarged 3½ litre engine had been developed. In September 1937, this engine, together with a new 1½ litre unit, joined the 2½ litre version in a completely revised model range. The new models were not very different in appearance; distinguished from their predecessors by the lack of the side mounted spare wheel, but the range now employed 'all steel' construction.

Heynes had designed a further stronger chassis for the new body construction resulting in more interior space and bigger doors. Prices ranged from £298 for the 1½ litre saloon to £465 for the 3½ litre Drophead Coupe. The new 3½ litre engine was fitted to the '100' model and this gave genuine sports car performance with sixty miles per hour reached from a standstill in 10.5 seconds and a top speed of over 100 mph. At £445 the bigger-engined SS 100 was in a class of its own. For the Motor Show of that year Lyons had designed a stylish closed body for the SS 100.

1967 JAGUAR E-TYPE 4.2 LITER SERIES I ROADSTER

--Carmen Red with Black leather interior, Factory Black hardtop, Black soft top, Black carpeting. Restored with limited mileage since, Air Conditioning, 4.2 liter straight six-cylinder engine, 4-speed transmission, Matching Numbers, Jaguar Heritage Trust Certificate, long-term ownership.

Sold to its second owner in the late 1970s, this E-Type enjoyed long-term ownership with a family in Minnesota for more than 30 years. Restored during this ownership, this E-type went through a bare-metal repaint and all areas and items were completely gone through to be addressed as needed. All components and work done was per original Jaguar specifications. A few upgrades however, were to the stereo system with a new radio and speakers and an upgraded cooling fan. This E-Type has had very limited mileage since the restoration as it was only driven as a pleasure vehicle in the summer, but always well cared for and maintained regardless of use.

This E-type was sold to its 3rd owner in 2009 and has been kept in excellent condition throughout. Fitted with air conditioning, this Jag is comfortable, yet dialed in for around-town cruising. One of the most iconic sports cars of all time, this numbers matching E-type Roadster represents the very best in build quality and craftsmanship throughout. A recent road test attests to the car performing flawlessly in every way, and it is indeed ready for immediate use and enjoyment. Included with the sale are owner's manual, a period Jaguar routine maintenance poster, a Jaguar E-Type Service Manual and Jaguar Heritage Trust Certificate.

Our hobby, and business for some of us, has changed quite a lot since I started seriously collecting, and writing, over 30 years ago. For awhile, in the 1990s there was a publication for collectors of automobilia, but since its demise long ago, there has been absolutely nothing for all of usuntil now. I am truly excited about this new publication, and I am delighted to be a part of it.

Making a Difference

We are delighted by the enthusiastic and growing response that our Classic & Sports Car Rally has received. By joining with us, and becoming our partner, you can help us help those children most in need of support. We believe our success is attributable to the fact that individuals, businesses and organizations alike, have found a common bond in our mission and gain satisfaction in knowing that they are playing a vital role in making a positive difference in the lives of children with special needs and disabilities and their families.

I can't say enough fabulous things about this school. My son started at 3 ½ years old and has made so much improvement that I can't thank the team enough. Everyone at the school has been incredibly helpful and it has been an amazing process from beginning to end. My son graduates this year and I am going to miss everyone so much. Thank you again for all your help.

This program has been a God-send for my daughter and the challenges she/I face. We are heard, supported and enlightened as to how we can strive and succeed. Her teachers and therapists love and understand her. They have truly been a blessing. Their patience with my daughter is remarkable and they have put my heart and mind at ease.

1958 JAGUAR XK-150 S 3.4 ROADSTER

--Red with Black leather interior, Black carpeting and Black cloth top and tonneau cover, 5-speed manual, Chrome wire wheels, Restored, Concours Winner, Upgraded to 3.8 Liters.

This 150 S has received a body-off restoration and is in absolutely superb condition throughout. The chassis and underside detail are equivalent to its exterior and interior cosmetics and thus show quality.

This XK-150S has been in a private collection, it is thoroughly documented with photos as well as receipts. During the restoration, it was decided to convert the original engine from 3.4 liter to 3.8 liter for more power. This XK-150 S has also received a 5-speed conversion which transforms the way in which it drives and how the power of the engine is used with 5-speed gearbox rather than original 4-speed Moss gearbox.

It is well serviced and complete with original spare, jack, knock-off hammer, tool roll, and handbook.

1 of only 326 XK-150 S' produced, this XK-150 Roadster has recently been traded to Autosport Designs, Inc., it is in exceptionally maintained-serviced condition ready for immediate road-touring use or show. It is also eligible for some of the world finest events.

19th Annual British Legends Weekend

Friday, October 11, 2019 to Sunday, October 13, 2019

This Columbus Day weekend, set sail for Plymouth, Massachusetts, and the Cape Cod British Car Club's annual three-day celebration of British motoring. Get your land legs Friday night at the Meet-and-Greet social. Then on Saturday, tour the back roads of Boston's quaint South Shore harbor and villages, or join us on a "Discover Plymouth" scavenger ride. Reward yourself that evening at a banquet at the Plimoth Plantation.

Finish your visit Sunday by viewing classic British cars (9 AM to 3 PM) on a large field that will also feature vendors, food and beverage trucks, and a tent with tables and chairs where you can relax and enjoy your refreshments. The Sunday show is free and includes ample parking. Cash donations to benefit Pilgrim Squadron Civil Air Patrol cadets would be appreciated. Friday and Saturday events, and entry of a British vehicle in the show, are by registration.

For details, visit the Cape Cod British Car Club website: capecodbritishcarclub.org.

SHOW LOCATION: Plymouth Municipal Airport

British cars in watercolor: An artist's gallery opens on the Web

FEBRUARY 16, 2016

ST. AUGUSTINE, FLA. — If you like British cars, and insist on good art, watercolor artist George Ellis has lots of fine art prints to choose from. Whether your interest is in MGs, Jaguars, Austin-Healeys, or other British cars, Mr. Ellis offers a growing list of prints featuring the classics.

Mr. Ellis is not new to painting cars; he's been painting for 15 years. What's new is that he is now offering Open Edition and Limited Edition prints of his work at his Web site, www.GeorgeEllis.com. The prints are produced to the highest standards.

At the George Ellis Gallery online, visitors are greeted by a light green SS-100 Jaguar in a beach scene. Clicking the first of the links at the left of the screen, one reads "About the Art," which offers a brief synopsis of the artist, the art, the prints, and how to order prints through the site.

The prints come in a variety of sizes: most are 11x14 inches, some are larger (up to 16x20 inches), and some are available as 5x7 inch prints. They're produced with archival inks on watercolor-type paper to hold their true colors well over time. It's expensive to make prints this way, but fine art is meant to last indefinitely.

Mr. Ellis's art looks attractive on the walls of any home, garage, shop, office, and of course "man caves." Limited Edition prints in particular represent an investment in art that can be expected to gain in value over the years.

To visit the George Ellis Gallery online, go to www.GeorgeEllis.com. The site accepts major credit cards and PayPal, and it offers "old school" customers the low-tech option of printing out a paper order form. If you have questions or would like to leave a comment, use the Contact form in the links list. The Gallery also accepts commissions; e-mail inquiries to George@GeorgeEllis.com or call the Gallery at 631-757-3722 during business hours for details.
