JAGUAR CLUB OF SOUTHERN COLORADO

A Patch of Blue

In the dark of winter we are now finding time to go through our closets and read more books that have been on our shelves for years. Our club is now planning to get us out for at least one day a month to drive our Jaguars and see some local interests.

We are doing our best to be safe as we venture out to these events. The last thing we ever want is to have someone be placed at risk for an unnecessary activity that is all about fun and social connection.

We are searching the sky for those patches of blue.

Join us when you can but don't feel pressured to attend if you have any reservation.

Keep safe but watch for the small openings in the clouds.

February 3 Meeting will be online again

Check your email to link to the Zoom meeting. It would be great to see more faces and get your input on what would be fun activities for the upcoming year.

The usual annual events are still up in the air so we are open to finding drives to local places of interest that provide nice photo spots and good takeout food.

National World War Two Aviation Museum

Jack Humphery welcomed the Jaguar Club to this wonderful museum. The vintage aircraft on display are all flyable and perform in airshows. Many others are under restoration at the neighboring hanger. We toured the West PAC Restorations facility as part of our visit.

Natl WW2 Aviation Museum continued

Several members of the Rocky Mountain Jaguar Club attended.

Oil drip pans sit under each radial engine. Jaguar drivers are familiar with this necessity.

Emily and Rory donated a dozen 1940s WW2 puzzles to the museum.

West PAC Restorations visit

We walked across the tarmac to visit the creative people restoring these historic aircraft. The metal and wood parts are revived or remade using original drawings and vintage tools.

Jag Life... Winter Edition

With snow tires mounted we drive our Jaguar with confidence and comfort. The four wheel drive, heated windshield, heated seats, heated steering wheel, satellite view navigation, makes winter travel a worry free pleasure. I consider it a step up from my father's XK120 that he raced on winter lakes.
